The stage left Naco as usual and was well on the road to Bisbee when a breast strap broke. The driver, Joe Irwin, got down to fix the strap when the leaders started. This caused the wheels to run and away went the stage. The driver was knocked down and had two ribs broken and was severely bruised. He was unable to get back to Naco and so lay there suffering the rest of that day and all of that night, and it was late in the morning before Mr. Ragsdale found the injured and exhausted man. One of the horses was killed. George Ray, of Curry & Ray, of Naco, drove the stake into Bisbee today. The injured man is in the care of Dr. Edmundson, who says his patient will be out again in a few days.

ART OF ENTERTAINING.

Is Less Not in Laborious Effort But in Quiet Agreeableness.

A great many people entirely isolate themselves from society, says Christian Work, "because they do not know how to entertain, or, rather, doubt their ability of engaging in such a task. The true art of entertaining is not in a laborious effort at overdoing one's self to please others but rather in the simple act of being agreeable to the best of our ability. True, it is well to render one's self individually congenial to guests, if such is possible, or within the power of a host or hostess, but when it becomes an evident labor to do so, it is better simply to be agreeable in a general, unaffected way." To which it is proper to add that there is quite as much danger of overdoing as underdoing this whole matter of entertaining. There are a great many quiet people who do not care to listen to an incessant personal chatter, delivered point-blank, even from the most charming lips and in the most perfect manner. In other words, they prefer the general rather than the excessively individual flavor.

Don't Answer Impertinent Questions. Impertinent questions are to be met with firm and dignified politeness. Any question about another's personal affairs, about the price of one's clothing, the amount of one's earnings, the reasons one has for entirely private conduct, is impertinent. Would I answer such questions? Not at all. Usually by a little tact one can settle such questions. If there is no other way, I counsel a plain but courteous sincerity—a simple refusal to answer. One may just say: "Pardon me, I prefer not to give any information whatever on this matter."—Margaret E. Sangster, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Widows in China. In China it is the rule of good society that widows do not remarry. They are not forbidden to do so, but they are thought more highly of if they don't. In order to encourage them the government, when they have passed the age of 50, and have not remarried, confers on them a tablet containing a eulogy of their virtues.

Not at Home. Visitor—Is your father at home? Little Daughter—What is your name, please? "Just tell him it is his old friend, Bill."

"Then he isn't in. I heard him tell mamma if any bills came he wasn't at home."—Stray Stories.

Prohibition of Circulars. A new ordinance in Philadelphia prohibits the placing of loose circulars under doors, in vestibules, on doorsteps, front porches, or around doorknobs.—Chicago Inter Ocean.
